The Complete Reporting Solution

Creating reports has never been easier! Looking for a complete reporting solution that is easy to learn, quick to apply and works with any data source? XLReporter is the ideal software for designing, generating, analyzing and distributing Excel reports to printers, PDF files, local or remote disk drives and HTML. Even publish reports to a Web server or e-mail them to your entire organization, automatically!

If you can think it, XLReporter can do it. Have a specific report in mind? With Microsoft Excel at its core, XLReporter produces any type of report without Excel being visible or executing! Whether it's a production report, compliance report, batch report, event report, regulatory report or any other, XLReporter can produce them all with features such as workbook duplication, worksheet manipulation, chart updates, formula recalculation, automatic printout and much more. XLReporter is powerful enough to produce extremely sophisticated reports, yet friendly enough for the beginner.

Automation is the key to immediate payback. Do you find yourself spending valuable time producing the same report over and over again? With XLReporter, the mundane task of report generation can finally be delegated. The entire process of collecting data from a data source, creating the report, formatting, analyzing its content and then distributing the polished report can be fully automated, periodically or on events. However, if your need is simply for an ad-hoc report, XLReporter provides all the tools to create and view your reports on demand.
